THE STANDARD A SCOTTISH LIFE OFFICE OF 63 YEARS STANDING, AND ONE OF THE WEALTHIEST OF THE PROVIDENT INSTITUTIONS OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

WHEN it is remembered that a Life Assurance Contract may not fall to be fulfilled for a quarter or even half a century after being entered into, it will be readily understood how important it is to the Policyholder, that the past record as well as the present management of the Office should be of the highest possible character. The Standard has a long record of past good services to refer to; its Funds, annually increasing, amount to £6,800,000; and all modern features consistent with safety have been adopted.

CASCARA CORDIAL.

A non-secret preparation of the now universally used Cascara Sagrada.

In those cases of constipation and indigestion where Cascara is indicated, this cordial can be used with confidence; it is pleasantly flavoured and combined with aromatics that prevent griping, and cover the objectionable bitter taste which is the one great objection to the use of this medicine.

Sold in original flasks at $1.25.

CONCENTRATED DISTILLED EXTRACT WITCH HAZEL.

This preparation, sold under various fancy names, has gained the position of a household remedy for wounds, bruises, inflammation, &c.

In the treatment of piles it often alone suffices to effect a cure, but its most important use will be in the treatment of traumatic injuries, including sprains, bruises, excoriations, cuts, burns, contused and lacerated wounds, as well as corns, bunions, chapped lips, fissured nipples, ulcers, the bites or stings of insects, &c.

P. D. & Co.'s preparation is equal to any of the brands sold under proprietary names and is about one third the price.

HONGKONG, DECEMBER 6TH, 1889.

THE Colony is to be congratulated on the return of the Hon. A. P. MACEWEN to his seat in Council. The hon. gentleman always carries with him a healthy breeziness into public affairs, and it is to him that we are on this occasion indebted for a wholesome discussion of the affairs of the colony in connection with the 1890 Estimates—a discussion which in his absence would not have taken place. The Governor's wish that Mr. MACEWEN's example may prove contagious and that the other unofficial members will let more of what is passing in their minds be known will be generally shared by the public. We propose to-day to briefly pass in review the various points touched upon by Mr. MACEWEN, together with the replies given by the Governor and the Acting Colonial Secretary. First, as to the audit. It seems to be agreed on all hands that an independent audit of the accounts of the Colony is desirable. The Governor is especially impressed with its desirability, but he objects to the plan of sending the documents to London. The Acting Colonial Secretary admits that the Imperial audit would be better than the present system, but contends that it would not be so much better as to be worth the extra expense. He also dwells on the inconvenience of having the audit conducted in London. As an instance of the superiority of an audit on the spot he mentions a visit paid by Sir WILLIAM MARSH to the Post and Stamp Offices, when that officer confessed he had learned more in three or four hours than he could ever have learned from replies on paper. Every one will of course grant the appositeness of the instance, and we should say it will be the duty of the local Auditor who is to be sent out under the new scheme to do exactly what Sir WILLIAM MARSH did on the occasion referred to by Mr. LISTER. In the natural course of things the officer on the spot will be held responsible for questions as to system. All that the Secretary of State proposed should be done in London was the mechanical part of the work, and he does not insist even upon that. The expense will apparently be greater than that of the present system, but as the Governor says, if the change has the effect intended it will be worth far more than it will cost.

With reference to the military contribution, it is satisfactory to hear from the Governor that the Colony is not to be asked to increase its contribution until it receives an additional regiment. His Excellency does not state this as an absolute certainty, but it is his view of the situation, and no doubt it will turn out to be a correct view. When the additional regiment arrives we are afraid it will be impossible to resist the demand for a larger contribution, if the principle of paying anything at all be admitted. Since the amount of the military contribution was fixed the Colony has largely increased in wealth and when it receives an addition to the forces it must expect to be called upon to pay its proportion of the additional cost. It is, of course, never pleasant to pay away money, but when the claim is irresistible it is no use making grimaces about it. Any claim for an increased contribution while the garrison remains at its present strength would of course have to be resisted by every possible means.

Some confusion seems to have prevailed on the subject of the vote for the defences. In the Estimates for the present year a sum of $18,626 was put down as "Balance, —Contribution to Defences," which might naturally lead one to suppose it was a final balance. In the Estimates for next year the sum of $30,000 is set down for the same purpose and is not stated to be a balance, which might equally lead one to suppose that it was an addition. An examination of previous year's Estimates shows, however, the true position of the matter. The Council agreed in the first place to vote £60,000, and, subsequently, another £60,000. The whole of this sum was never actually voted by way of appropriation, but from year to year such amounts as it was anticipated would be required during the year, have been appropriated in the ordinary way; when the amount so set aside has been exceeded the balance has been provided for in the Supplementary Appropriation Bill. The sums actually expended are shown in the following table:—

1884	$ 3,464.64
1885	72,564.45
1886	217,901.45
1887	258,444.28
1888	62,115.90
Total	$614,490.72

The amount voted for the present year was $18,620, and we believe the actual expenditure has not been much more. Something therefore still remains of the £120,000, say £20,000; but it is impossible to state the exact amount in sterling, in the absence of the rates of exchange at which the conversion has been made. The Council is, of course, bound to vote up to the extent of the £120,000, in accordance with its resolution to that effect, if the money is required.

Mr. MACEWEN says that undoubtedly at home there has been a great deal of exaggerated talk about the wealth of the Colony; in fact certain officials look upon it as an El Dorado, and they will make us pay accordingly. The hon. gentleman thinks His Excellency's recent report may rather tend to confirm the Imperial Authorities in that view. He is a believer in the principle that it is wise when a man is worth £10,000 that he should lead his friends to believe he has only £5,000, and thinks it should be applied in dealings between the Crown Colonies and the Imperial Authorities. But the principle so highly thought of by Mr. MACEWEN is one which it is not considered legitimate to apply in dealings with the Collector of Income Tax; neither can a Governor be expected to mislead the Secretary of State. We look to the Governor to fight the battles of the Colony with the Downing Street Authorities, but not to use as one of his weapons either misrepresentation or concealment. Sir WILLIAM DES VŒUX naturally says that for no purpose whatever would he feel himself justified in representing the position of the colony as other than he conceives it to be.

The next point touched upon is the absence of a bureau of statistics in the colony, which is lamented both by the Hon. A. P. MACEWEN and His Excellency the Governor. We believe that if the proposal to establish such a bureau were renewed it would be found that the opposition with which it was received in some quarters on the previous occasion has subsided for the most part into simple indifference. The Hon. A. P. MACEWEN will probably be able to ascertain the feeling more definitely by communication with the members of the Chamber of Commerce. His Excellency in the meantime is maturing a scheme for the collection of statistics by obtaining returns from the countries with which this Colony has tradal relations, which he hopes will make up to some extent for the absence of a bureau of our own. Such statistics will no doubt be useful, but they will be very far from equivalent to statistics compiled on the spot. In the first place, it will be impossible to trace accurately the dates of the departure of goods from Hongkong or the date of their arrival here, so that the comparison of period with period—one of the most useful purposes to which statistics are applied—will be rendered of little value. Secondly, in the returns received from foreign countries the classifiers both of quantities and values will vary, and their reduction to uniformity will not only involve a large amount of calculation but will be more or less unreliable. Thirdly, the returns will be incomplete, for in the course of a year certain quantities of goods will be received from and despatched to out-of-the-way places from which it will be impossible to obtain returns; and also because some countries include Hongkong with China in the statements of their imports and exports. However, the figures to be obtained under the proposed scheme will possess some value, and we hope a trial will be made of it.

In reference to the proposal that houses should be provided for the officials at the public expense, we think the general verdict will be, as the Governor says, anything rather than that. There is no limit to the demands that would be made under such a system. The modern tendency, moreover, is in the direction of the abolition of all pensions, and a very good tendency it is. Let an official, we say, be paid a fair salary and make the best of it, like other men. In this Colony house allowance is being consolidated with salaries, and in course of time even pensions will have to go—and the sooner the better. This colony enjoyed the services of Sir WILLIAM MARSH for a period of about six years, and he now draws a pension of $2,192. We hope Sir WILLIAM may long live to enjoy his pension, but it would have been a more satisfactory arrangement had the Colony paid him a larger salary without prospect of pension. We find on the pension list men who have been drawing their pensions since 1861. Others enjoy them for only a few years, while officials who die in harness obtain no benefit whatever, so that if pensions are to be looked upon as deferred pay the system obviously works very inequitably. Reverting back to the question of house accommodation, however, we hope the Hon. A. P. MACEWEN's suggestion that adequate quarters should be provided for the married members of the Police Force will receive the consideration of His Excellency. The conditions governing the case of bodies of men like the Police of course differ widely from those which apply in the case of higher officials. Barracks for the Police are a necessity and quarters should be provided for married men as well as for single men.

To adequately discuss the questions of the reduction of taxation, the direct cable to Singapore, and the Crown Agents, would require greater space than we have at present at our disposal. There is only one other item referred to by Mr. MACEWEN to which we would now draw attention, and that is with reference to the Central Market. Mr. MACEWEN expected to find this work completed on his return; the site has been levelled, and that is all. It is singular that neither the Governor, the Acting Colonial Secretary, nor the Surveyor-General should have answered the hon. gentleman on this point. As a matter of fact we believe the idea of erecting the new market on the old site has been abandoned, the adoption of the Praya reclamation scheme having changed the conditions. It is desirable that the market should have a water frontage, and a delay of a few years, even in such an important matter as the market, must be acquiesced in where the reason is adequate. But what about the present site? Is it to be allowed to lie idle for as many years as the site of the Victoria College was? We trust Mr. MACEWEN will use his influence to prevent such wanton waste. With the exception of the market, all Mr. MACEWEN's points were fairly dealt with by Sir WILLIAM DES VŒUX in his reply, and the Colony is fortunate in having a Governor so evidently willing to give an impartial and unprejudiced consideration to all matters placed before him.

The delivery of the French mail was begun at 7.30 p.m. yesterday.

The Sultan of Pahang and the Resident paid a visit the other day to the Punjom mines.

H. E. the Hoppo made a call on Sir G. William Des Vœux at Government House yesterday morning.

The Hongkong Marine Company's boat has been engaged as flagship for the forthcoming Regatta.

The Superintendent informs us that the P. & O. steamer Ganges, with the next outward English mail, left Singapore at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, the 3rd inst., for this port.

H. M. S. Plover, we learn from the Free Press, was to leave Singapore for Hongkong on the 30th November. The Pigmy will remain at Singapore, probably for six months.

H. E. Chang, the ex-Minister to the United States, arrived here yesterday by the Messageries Maritimes steamer Saghalien, having returned from his post by way of Europe.

According to Mr. E. Brewster, magistrate of Kinta, the famous Soraks mine, near Lahat, is the deepest and richest mine in the Malay Peninsula. It is now about 100 feet deep; nearly 60 feet of this is tin-bearing of the very richest quality, and appears to be endless. The owner says $5,000 to $10,000 is his monthly profit.

We (Singapore Free Press) hear of considerable progress being made just now up in Ulu Pahang. At Kwala Lipis building operations are going on, and it is said that the Superintendent of the Ulu, Mr. W. C. Michell, means to proceed at once with the laying out of a town, which is expected ultimately to become a place of pretty good size.

The London Gazette of the 29th October contains the following notification:—"October 28.—The Queen has been pleased to approve of Mr. A. R. Brown as Consul at Glasgow for his Imperial Majesty the Mikado." Captain A. R. Brown, it will be remembered, was recently the managing director of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha (Japan Mail Steamship Company) in Yokohama.

Work on the P. and O. steamer Ascona, beached in Kowloon Bay after her collision with the China Merchants' steamer Kwug Tai on Thursday, was actively proceeded with all night, under the personal supervision of Mr. R. Cooke, of the Dock Company, and yesterday morning she was floated and docked at Hunghom. The Kwug Tai floated with the tide yesterday afternoon and steamed to her buoy.

The following are the "orders of the day" for the meeting of the Sanitary Board this afternoon:—

1.—By-laws to be made under sub-section 19 of section 13 of Ordinance 24 of 1887.

2.—Correspondence regarding drainage of the Hill District.

3.—Report by a Committee concerning the cultivation of calf lymph.

4.—Report by a Committee considering tenders for the general surface scavenging of the city.

The Paix and several other French papers draw attention to what they call a scandalous incident which has just taken place in Tonquin, namely, the recent sale of the Courrier d'Haiphong, an interest in which has been allowed to fall into English hands. The Paix avers that the leading paper of Tonquin will be conducted to meet English views, and its secret programme will certainly be to prepare public opinion for the gradual invasion of foreign capital, which has a tendency to get out to the colony.

The Batavia Nieuwsblad says that there is some secret work going on in Batavia in connection with affairs in Acheen, which it seems not even the military officers know anything about. One contemporary is, however, sure that about five battalions of well-trained men are to leave for Acheen, and that the navy is also to be reinforced. It appears that General von Teyl, the Governor of Acheen, has sent an ultimatum to the rebellious chiefs giving them two months to submit themselves to the Dutch.

In his report for October, Mr. Pike, the third assistant magistrate of Ipoh, in Perak, says:—I sent some of the ore from the lode at Klian Pasah Tambun to the Curator of the Museum. This ore contained wolfram in large quantities, and, when assayed by the Curator, gave 65 per cent. of wolfram and 21 per cent. of oxide of tin. This was, of course, a very rich piece, but I would point out that this lode is very rich indeed in ore. It contains tin and wolfram, and both in large quantities. Wolfram is taken to be one of the best indications of a strong healthy lode, and even if shipped in the ore, is worth from £20 to £25 a ton, according to quality.

Woodyear's Circus opened on the new pitch on the site of the Central Market last night. The company have procured a handsome new marquee, manufactured by Mr. Kiley, which is about half as large again as the old one, and every part was last night crowded, hundreds being able to find standing room only. The excellent programme was gone through in a most successful manner and the audience being an enthusiastic one, each individual performer met with a most hearty reception. The Circus, commencing from to-day, will give two performances daily, at 3 and 9 p.m. respectively, and the really good entertainment they give, combined with the convenience of the spot where they are now situated, should make full houses the rule.

A correspondent of a Ceylon paper writes:—I was talking to a well-known gemmer who hails from the other side of Galle, and he says that he has seen the largest cat's eye, the finding of which was recently recorded. It is the finest stone he has ever seen, he says, and he doubts if a better one has been discovered anywhere. It weighs 6 lbs. and 6 rupees, and is of about the size of a 7lb. weight. The finder, he gave me to understand, is a Moorman, who for a very long time found his digging very unprofitable; but at length his perseverance was rewarded by the find of a cat's eye which realised over £1,000 sterling. Shortly after this he came on another which brought him in over £2,000, and then he fitted up the gigantic stone about which so much talk has been made. He has been offered £19,000 for it by a syndicate of Moormen, but he declines to part with it at that figure, saying that if he liked he could cut it up into about forty small pieces, and sell each piece for £1,000. A little time ago he found a larger cat's eye than this one, but the ray was not good, so that it is nothing like so valuable.

A Shanghai correspondent, in a letter forwarded to the République Française, makes the following remarks as to the attempts of Germany to make headway in China:—Not content with playing an important diplomatic role, Germany above all, and before all, applies herself to Chinese commerce. Her Consuls are actively occupied with commercial questions, have addressed reports on reports to acquaint the merchants of the Empire; in brief, have done everything possible to create openings in China for Teutonic industry. One of my friends, an old resident in Shanghai and a superior employé in the Chinese Customs, showed me one day two gentlemen moving about the wharves where the vessels discharge, examining the cases and taking notes of the place of export and the contents. "Do you know who are those curious ones?" said my friend. "Well, you see there Dr. Focke, Consul-General of Germany at Shanghai, and his secretary, M. Rolling; and for more than six years no German Consul has failed to come each evening for this instructive little promenade." How many have we, in our Consular Service, of such agents, inquiring seriously about the commerce and industry of France? It is not astonishing that the returns of the Hamburg Chamber of Commerce continue to show increased figures.

The Scoloo islands, a whilom pirates' nest brought under by the Spaniards some thirteen years ago, have been the scene of an interesting colonial experiment. The Spanish Government, on conquering the group, left the native Sultan in charge as vassal, and established a settlement near his chief town fortified on the landward side. Those of the natives who would not brook foreign domination lost no opportunity of harassing the garrison, and hostilities continually broke out, almost always to the disadvantage of the aggressive islanders. Meanwhile, the Spanish occupation has given security enough to admit of an expansion of trade with Singapore, carried on mainly by three steamers, the Benmore, Spantel, and Hong Ann, which ply monthly. The produce shipped comprises hemp, copra, coffee, gum mastic, and sundry jungle products. The natives take little care of their cultivation, and bring the articles to market roughly prepared, in consequence of their inborn indolence. Notwithstanding the bad quality of these articles, traders buy them up at comparatively high prices, owing to the advantage of paying for goods from Singapore in produce as much as possible, instead of in coin, the silver form of which only circulates in Scoloo. The latter offers wide scope for planting enterprise in consequence of favourable conditions of soil and climate for growing produce articles sure to command remunerative prices at Singapore. Scoloo, too, enjoys immunity from the hurricanes which ravage the other Philippine islands. Abundance of rain and numerous running streams ensure a never failing supply of water. Yet, despite these advantages, Spaniards show no inclination for embarking in the cultivation of the soil. A German who did the reverse has found the venture a paying one.—Straits Times.

The following items are from the London and China Express of the 1st November:—

The new French flagship in the Chinese waters is to be the old Triomphante, which ship will leave Toulon shortly to relieve the Turenne.

A Japanese Consulate is to be established at Odessa on account of the increasing Russian trade with Japanese ports by means of the Nolunteer fleet.

The steamer Breconshire, of the Shire Line, and outward bound to Penang, &c., left Hamburg, but had to return from the lower river, damaged by collision. She will only be delayed here few days.

Mr. Alfred East has just returned to London from Japan, bringing with him a number of pictures which it was hoped he would have able to exhibit in the Japanese capital before leaving. But as time was short and some of the pictures unfinished, he was unable to do this. Mr. East is said to have worked with the utmost diligence in the most famous show place of Japan.

Some further explorations have been made as to the possibility of navigating the Meikong River above the Cambodian frontier. It will be remembered that in 1885 Captain Revellière passed the famous rapids of Pree-Patang in a torpedo-boat, and that in 1887 the Moustic, one of the vessels of the Messageries Fluviales, was conducted by Lieut. Fenigny as far as the Great Khon Rapids. Now this work is about to be completed by Lieut. Henry Hotel, commanding the gunboat Mouette. To the surprise of the Siamese he conducted this vessel, which is 175ft. long, as far as Stung Treng. From that point he piloted the Castenaut, of the Messageries Fluviales, up to Khon. On board the vessel were M. Vernaville, Resident in Cambodia, and Mme. Vernaville and M. Arand, the director of the company, which intends to have a regular service on the river shortly. Thus the privileges which were granted to France by the treaties of 1893 and 1867 with Siam will now, after a considerable lapse of time, be taken advantage of, and trade developed on the river as far up as the great rapids of Khon. Through these the river is not navigable for any class of vessels.

It is with very regret that we have to announce the death, at his residence at Margate, of Mr. James Killick, formerly for many years the commander of the clipper-ship Challenger, so well known in the early days of the Shanghai trade. His health had latterly not been very strong, but the illness which terminated his life was sudden, and its fatal issue unexpected. On retirement from active duty as a seaman, in which his fearless, resolute, and zealous character earned for him a high measure of respect and regard, he established himself in business in London in connection with its shipping trade, as the senior partner of the firm of Killick, Martin, and Co. Relieved during the last few years of the details of its administration he still maintained a vigilant and intelligent interest in the pursuit to which the active morning of his life had been devoted, and in which he played so honourable a part; and we are sure that the sentiments of regret and esteem which have prompted this slight tribute to his memory will be sincerely shared by such of our readers as may remember Shanghai in the old days, or whose avocations have brought them more recently into contact with the deceased.

THE SEARCH FOR THE MISSING STEAMER "DUBURG."

The German steamer Ashington, which arrived here yesterday from Saigon, was, it will be remembered, commissioned on her passage down from here to make a search for the missing steamer Duburg, which left Singapore on the 25th October with a general cargo and 400 Chinese passengers. Captain Zindel carried out his commission, but unfortunately failed to discover any traces of the vanished steamer or her crew. He has kindly favoured us with the following extracts from his log:—

"21st November.—Experienced moderate breezes with passing showers of rain. At 10.30 a.m. sighted North Reef from the foreyard, bearing S.W. by S. Searched the reef for the steamer Duburg, but nothing was to be seen of her. At noon the north point of North Reef bore W. ¼ S. two miles distant. Kept a good lookout, but nothing unusual was seen. Altered course for the north island of the Amphitrite Group and anchored at 5 p.m. in 10 fathoms water with 40 fathoms of cable out, north point of North Island bearing N.W. ¼ W. and Middle Island E. ¼ S., until 8 p.m.; thick, rain and moderate S.E. wind.

"22nd November.—At 6 a.m. sent a boat in charge of the chief officer on shore to have a look along the other side of the island, but no sign of a wreck could be traced. Weather hazy with passing showers of rain. At 8 a.m., the weather clearing up, hove anchor and steered for Woody Island. Arrived at the same at 8.40 a.m. and steamed round it without anything unusual coming in sight. At 9.20 a.m. altered course for Lincoln Island, and sighted it at 11.10 a.m. from aloft. At noon Lincoln Island bore S.E. ¼ S. and Pyramid Rocks S.S.W. Clear weather and light, Easterly winds. Steamed round Lincoln Island, and as no sign of a wreck was found there steered for Bombay Reef. At 1.17 p.m. passed Pyramid Rocks at a distance of three and a-half miles, and at 3.45 p.m. sighted Bombay Reef from aloft. Steamed along the north side of the reef at a distance of half a mile to a mile. On the east point of the reef at 5 p.m. we saw the wreck apparently of a sailing vessel, of which only the keel and timbers were left, the east point of Bombay Reef bearing N. W. At 5.30 p.m. altered course and continued our voyage to Saigon."

The above fruitless search closes the last chapter in this melancholy tragedy of the sea. There can now be scarcely a vestige of doubt that the Duburg, with her teeming human freight and all her crew foundered in mid sea. The floating bundles of rattans which have been sighted by passing steamers coming up from Singapore are probably the only trace—if indeed they be a trace—or sign of her that will ever be found. The Duburg was a vessel of 1,097 tons burden, and had for some years been employed in the China trade. She was commanded by Captain Bertelsen, and cleared from Singapore on the 25th October for Amoy and Hongkong.

FOOTBALL.

HONGKONG FOOTBALL CLUB v. 91ST REGIMENT.

The above match was played at Wong-nei-chong yesterday afternoon and resulted in an easy win for the Regiment. The play of the winners was throughout considerably superior to their opponents, their smartness in passing aiding considerably in the victory. The Club won the toss and kicked off from the Village end. Almost immediately the ball was taken into the Club's ground, where it remained for some minutes without any advantage being gained. The Club forwards then got an innings and with a combined rush took the ball up the field. From here it was once more gradually worked down towards the centre and some very fast play followed on both sides. The Club were then gradually driven back and after two rain attempts at scoring the Regiment gained their first goal. This was quickly followed by another attempt, and though the ball eventually was kicked through the goal, the player was given "off side" before the goal was actually scored. After some desultory play on both sides the Club again got possession of the ball, and Vignoles, with a splendid run, took it well up the field and centred to Maitland, who with a well-judged shot kicked for the goal, but the ball was cleverly caught by the Regiment's goal keeper and returned, and no further advantage was gained up to half-time. On the ball being re-started a set of disasters befell the Club, and play was almost entirely confined to their quarter of the field till the conclusion of the game. No sooner was the ball set rolling than a desperate assault was made by the Regiment on the Club's goal, and twice their goalkeeper saved his citadel by striking the ball out. The Regiment, however, returned again to the charge and placed another goal to their credit. Another, and yet another quickly followed, and within a quarter of an hour of "time" the Regiment had four goals to their credit. The Club then braced up considerably and the combined efforts of Vignoles, Ram, and Woodcock almost resulted in a goal, the ball going but very few inches the wrong side of the post. The Regiment then retaliated and with a very pretty combined run scored another goal, within five minutes of time. Vignoles again assisted his side and, well backed up by Atkinson and Maitland, made another attempt to score, but again failed, the ball just grazing the tape, above, and in spite of some good play from this stage to the finish the Club were unable to record a point, and when "No side" was called, the Regiment were the winners by five goals to none.

The following team represented the Club:—F. Maitland; Dr. J. M. Atkinson. F. C. Vignoles, R. A. A. H. Ough, E. G. Young, R.E; C. W. Dickson, W. H. Wallace, G. M. W. Macdonogh, R.E., and A. Campbell.

SUPREME COURT.

5th December.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

IP HIP CHEE v. BRANDT.

This was a claim for $37.50 for brokerage on the sale of certain shares.

Mr. Redyk appeared for the plaintiff.

The plaintiff, a broker, said that on the 17th June the defendant instructed him to sell 50 Punjom shares. He found a buyer, Mr Lam Jam Chow, and submitted his name to the defendant, who expressed himself satisfied with it and the contract note was accepted. On the 29th June, he sold 50 China Sugar shares to the same buyer. The claim he made was for brokerage on these shares.

His Lordship asked Mr. Brandt what his defence was.

Mr. Brandt said the contracts had been cancelled and there was an arrangement that plaintiff should not get brokerage.

Plaintiff, cross-examined by Mr. Brandt, said he did not know whether the contracts were cancelled or not. He knew that the purchaser did not take up the shares. He remembered coming to Mr. Brandt and asking him for business, but he did not recollect Mr. Brandt telling him that as he was just beginning he could not pay him the same as a foreign broker. He did buy 60 China Fires for Mr. Brandt on the 25th June and Mr. Brandt then told him he must get the brokerage from the seller and must be content with one brokerage only. He did not send in a written claim to Mr. Brandt for his brokerage in this case, but he asked him for it.

Mr. Brandt stated that he met the plaintiff at the marriage of one of his clerks. Plaintiff called on him the following day and asked him to give him some business. He told him he could not put the same brokerage as a foreign broker and that he must be content with a single brokerage.

His Lordship—What do you call a single brokerage?

Mr. Brandt—As a rule both purchaser and seller pay; in his case he was only to get brokerage from one of them.

His Lordship—Then you were not to pay anything at all.

Mr. Brandt—Not when the other side did. He was perfectly satisfied with the arrangement. I gave him two or three small transactions and in these he always received brokerage from the other party only. He was perfectly satisfied and agreed to this arrangement. No claim was made at the time and it was only now, four or five months afterwards, that this claim was brought.

His Lordship said he would not call on Mr. Redyk to make any statement. The broker made his living by his charge for brokerage and if Mr Brandt set up any charge of that custom the onus probandi clearly lay on him. He had not proved that there was any change in the ordinary arrangement and judgement would therefore be for the plaintiff with costs. He should advise Mr. Brandt in the future when he made such arrangements to see that they were put into writing.

PRINCE ALBERT VICTOR IN BOMBAY.

BOMBAY, 19th November.

Prince Albert Victor, accompanied by Sir Edward Bradford, visited the Lines this morning before breakfast. The Governor's body-guard formed the guard of honour. They there witnessed a number of officers practising tent-pegging. The photograph of the Prince with Lord and Lady Reay and their Staffs was taken. The business of the day began in the afternoon with the reception of a number of native chiefs.

In the evening His Royal Highness started out for a drive to Parvati Hill, accompanied by Lord and Lady Reay, and the Duke and Duchess of Connaught. The procession stopped at Lakdipoah, where were assembled numbers of the Sarvanjanik Sabha Brahmins, who presented garland of flowers and pan soopari, which the Prince accepted. On reaching the foot of Parvati Hill, two elephants, gaily caparisoned, were brought forward. The Prince and the Duchess of Connaught mounted one, which proceeded slowly up the steps. Ere reaching the top, just when the steep portion was reached, the elephant began to slip, but was carefully brought down to its knees, and the Royal riders dismounted in safety. The top was reached and the party viewed the idols and the panorama of the city. Parvati Hill was then left, and the drive homewards through the city and cantonments began. All along the route the city was most beautifully decorated and illuminated, the exhibition being superior to that on the occasion of the visit of the Prince of Wales or during the Jubilee celebration.

The day, in fact, did not pass off without an accident. One of the most beautiful of the arches which was erected by the Durham Light Infantry, took fire, and was burned to the ground, the people in the crowd narrowly escaping injury.

The Prince's reception all along the route was most enthusiastic.

On reaching Magdala House, where the Prince was to dine with the Duke of Connaught, the Prince had just alighted from his carriage and Lord Reay was on the point of coming down, when the horses took fright at the cheering of the crowd and bolted. Some cavalry men rushed to the rescue, but did not succeed in stopping the horses till the shafts of the carriage were broken. Fortunately none of the occupants were injured.

The day then ended quietly with a private dinner at Magdala House.

Among others who suffered were, Messrs. Hoare, Conway, and Brown, solicitors; Messrs. Claridge and Co., Publishers of the English Mail; several chandlers. Mr. Goetling, architect; Messrs. Schiller, Dossgne and Co., and numerous residents whose places were gutted. The damages are impossible to estimate. Mr William Watson's hotel was only saved by a narrow passage between it and the burning blocks.

PROSPECTS OF SILVER COINAGE IN AMERICA.

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 6th ult. writes:—An Eastern firm which does a large business in selling silver bullion to the Government for the Mints has issued a private circular, offering $1,000 for a three-months' option on 100,000 ounces of silver 999 fine and on call at $1 an ounce. Fine silver was quoted in New York yesterday at 95¼ to 95¾ cents per ounce. Stripped of technical verbiage, the circular means that this firm expects silver within three months to go up at least 6 per cent and presumably more. The offer is believed to be genuine, and based upon faith in some decisive course by Congress or the Administration during the coming winter providing for an increase of silver coinage. It is considered probable that a strong effort will be made to have the coinage increased to the full legal maximum of $4,000,000 a month. It is not likely that the proposition urged in some quarters for the free coinage of silver will receive any serious attention. Until some co-operation can be obtained on the part of European countries the United States cannot afford to risk such an experiment. Nor is any effective help to that end to be expected from the Pan-American Congress, whatever action it may take on that question. Several of the South American countries, although nominally on a silver basis and producers of silver, are loaded with depreciated paper money. In the event of the adoption of a common silver coinage the United States would soon become the dumping-ground of such coinage from every country having a depreciated paper currency, and the result would be a tumble of our own silver dollar. Besides, any arrangement of that kind, under present conditions, would operate as a reduction of our tariff in our trade with the South American States.

Leaving free coinage out of the question, an increase to the maximum permitted by the present law may be considered more favourably. The present silver production of the United States is about $43,000,000, about $20,000,000 of which is used in the arts. That leaves $23,000,000 for coinage, which is a trifle below the minimum mint demand. Of course the first effect of coining the maximum of $4,000,000 a month would be to create a demand for silver and to increase the price. Whether the increase in price would be permanent is another question. The first result of the rise in price would be an influx of silver from abroad, accompanied by enhanced activity in silver mining in the United States. This movement would naturally continue until the price of silver here and elsewhere should become approximately equalised. Another question is whether the business of the country will absorb double the amount of silver coinage now being turned out by the Mints. It has taken up without difficulty $2,000,000 a month. The Treasury is now almost bare of silver dollars which are not covered by certificates in circulation, and the demand for certificates is increasing faster than the present coinage. This is partly due to the contraction of the national bank-note currency and partly to actual increase in business needs. The South particularly, is beginning to require a large portion of the silver coinage and certificates. Advancing business activity and the character of the people and transactions there readily account for the movement. The increase of the coinage to the maximum, therefore, while in the nature of an experiment, seems to be warranted by present conditions. It would be better accomplished by a resolution expressing the sense of both Houses of Congress that the Secretary of the Treasury should coin up to the legal maximum, than by an Act fixing $4,000,000 as the minimum. The former course would leave the Treasury at liberty to return to the minimum in case the maximum should threaten to exceed the capacity of the country to take it up. The first sign of any wavering in the artificial value of the silver dollar would then be the signal for reducing the supply, while under an Act of Congress serious mischief might be done before action could be taken.

The Silver question is one in which there is essential necessity for going slowly. The present legal tender value of the Standard Dollar is upheld merely by Government action aided by the growing business of the country. Any serious set-back to business prosperity will make it more difficult to maintain the present artificial ratio between gold and silver. At present the outlook is promising, but good financiers in providing for the present look out for the future. We may small conceive of every help to hold up the silver dollar, provided we take care that it shall not fall upon and crush us.
